corner of said last tract; thence south one degree west eighty poles to a black oak above mentioned as the southwest corner of said last tract; thence north forty five degrees, west fifteen poles to the north east corner of said tract, formerly, of said Cane; thence north forty five degrees, west thirty three poles to a stake with pointers, thence west ninety five poles to a stake on a ridge with three black oak pointers; thence north one and one half degrees west, two hundred and eighty seven poles, to the northeast corner of a tract of land formerly belonging to Harrison Williams, thence north eighty nine degrees, west eighty four poles to a chestnut; with two white oaks and two hickory pointers; thence north forty-five degrees forty-five minutes, east one hundred and thirteen poles to an elm, with an elm, chestnut and black oak and gum pointers near the foot of a hill, about twenty five poles south of Short creek; thence north eighty-five degrees, east 112 poles to the south east corner, or a tract of land formerly belonging to J. Lewis Cottage and now to Barnett Boswell; thence north fifteen minutes east one hundred and ten poles to the northeast corner of said last tract at a white oak with four black oaks, hickory and gum pointers on the west bank of a branch; thence north eighty nine degrees, west one hundred and twenty nine poles to a point in said Boswells line at the southeast corner of a tract of land formerly belonging to John R. Dawson at two small white oaks with post oak and chestnut pointers; thence west thirty-six poles with said Boswells line to an ironwood tree; thence south thirty-six poles; thence south forty-five degrees, west two hundred and forty poles to an ash and hickory; thence north forty-five degrees, west one hundred and seventy six poles to a black oak, with three black oak pointers on a high ridge; thence north forty-five degrees, east one hundred and twenty three poles to a mountain oak, in a small branch which said branch falls south with a black oak pointer, thence with the north east boundary line of a tract of land formerly belonging to Wesley Thiner, north forty-five degrees west one hundred and forty four poles to a stake on the east side of a dam, with five small black oaks, a white oak and post oak pointers, ten poles from Mitchells Branch thence south forty-five degrees, west two hundred and thirty poles to a stake, two poles north of an old cabin now or formerly on said Thiners lands; thence north seventy-four degrees, west thirty-nine poles to a large hickory on the road side, with a black oak pointer; thence north forty seven degrees, thirty minutes west seventy eight poles to a hickory with two hickories, two small black oaks and a sassafras pointers, about eighty poles east of the road and twenty poles east of The Tennessee river; thence north forty one degrees, thirty one minutes west, seventy six poles to a stake, in a road with two white oak pointers about twenty five poles from said river; thence north fourteen degrees fifteen minutes west, sixteen and one-half poles to a white oak stump at the road side; thence north twenty one degrees, fifteen minutes west nineteen poles to a stake in the road, thence north six degrees west twelve poles to a stake about forty poles from said river, thence north seventy seven degrees, forty-five minutes east forty poles to a poplar stump, with large poplar and hickory pointers in the bottom, thence north eighty one degrees east ninety one poles to a large mountain oak, on the west side of a hill at the southeast corner of a tract of land now or formerly belonging to Sexton's heirs; thence north one degree east ninety seven poles to a large chestnut on the west side of a hill; thence west sixteen poles to a stake in the bottom with two hickories, a walnut sweet gum and ironwood pointers, thence north one degree east seventy eight poles to a stake in the bottom with a large hickory and a walnut pointers on the west side of the road leading to Standing rock; thence south eighty nine degrees, east nineteen poles to a large elm on the south side of a hill; thence north one degree east eighteen poles to a point in the south boundary line of a tract of land, now or formerly belonging to Ragland's heirs, two poles south of a black gum, the southwest corner thereof; thence south eighty eight degrees, east ninety eight poles to a sycamore and black gum, with pointers on the east bank of a branch; thence north one degree east forty, two and one half poles to a black oak stump, with three sprouts from the same on the south side of a hill; thence north eighty six degrees west eighteen poles to a sugar tree stump five poles east of a house formerly occupied by John Mitchell; thence north two degrees east thirty eight poles to a red oak in the west line of a tract of land now or formerly belonging to the heirs of Williamson Williams; thence south eighty-nine degrees east forty poles to a blazed chestnut tree near the foot of a hill; thence north seventy-four degrees east seventy poles to a black oak; thence passing three poles above a spring on said last tract north fifty five degrees east twenty and one-half poles to a blazed white oak; thence south eighty-nine degrees east seven hundred and eighty poles to a stake with three white oaks a black oak and two sourwood pointers being the northeast corner of a tract of land conveyed by Eliza Palmer to the La Grange Iron Company, recorded in book — page — of the office of said Register of Deeds, thence south two hundred and thirty-six poles to a stake with two hickories