have and to hold to the said H.B. Morrow, his personal representatives and assigns. But this conveyance is made in trust for the following purposes and none other, to wit: I am indebted to said H.B. Morrow by note of even date herewith for $750 payable four months after date, with the privilege to renew the same twice for four months each time. Now if I pay said note when it matures, or if renewed at the time of its maturity then this conveyance shall be void. But if I fail to do so, then said Morrow may take possession of said property, and sell the same for cash after advertisement for ten days, in case of sale, as aforesaid, he will dispose of the proceeds as follows: First, He will pay the costs and expenses of executing this trust; Second, He will pay said note and interest, Third. He will pay over the residue to me. Witness my hand this 10th day of March 1892.
